Personal Statement

A highly skilled and professional chef, I continually strive for the highest standards. Effective leadership and strong motivational skills ensure continued team success in high pressure environments. As a regular on the food show circuit I am confident in media situations and have appeared on TV, radio and in local press to perform cooking demonstrations, publicise events, champion local produce and support food awards. With a wealth of catering and public relations experience, I am enjoying the variety of challenges in my role as a self-employed Chef Consultant.

Chef Consultant All Things Food

Following a successful career as Executive Chef of Rudding Park Hotel where I maintained two rosettes in the Clocktower Restaurant for over eight years, I embarked on a new venture as Chef Consultant ten years ago. In this role I have taken my business from strength to strength working closely with Rudding Park and various other catering outlets, large and small. As Chef Consultant I am able to advise on food standards, support staff development and create new, exciting menus. In my role as 'DeliciouslyYorkshire' Champion, I continue to promote Yorkshire produce.

I also help promote the education of food at various schools and colleges in the north of England. It's fun and fulfilling to inspire the younger generation and get them excited about food. I also enjoy teaching at some of the top cookery schools in the area.
